

The Da Vinci Institute

Redefining Management Education

The Da Vinci Institute, a private higher education institution focusing on managerial leadership development, is one of a kind. Here we believe education is more than obtaining a qualification, as we challenge our students to create relevant solutions to solve work based problems. The focus of our programmes is to deliver innovative thinkers and decision makers equipped to make a difference in the real world and to contribute towards the development of a sustainable society.

Founded in 2003, Da Vinci has established itself as a boutique institution where learning programmes are customised according to the particular needs and environment of either an organisation or an individual. Over the past ten years we have developed a cadre of managerial leaders from a wide range of organisations, including the likes of Eskom, FNB, Anglo Gold Ashanti, Telkom, Altron, Standard Bank, ABSA, Nedbank, Gold Fields, Anglo Platinum, De Beers, BHP Billiton, JP Morgan, SABS, Henley Air, IDC, City Power, Limpopo Treasury, Bank Seta, City of Tshwane, DBSA, MTN, DST, Services Seta, SANDF and SASCO.

Da Vinci's academic programme offerings include:

PhD programme

In the PhD programme (NQF Level 10), aimed at senior managers and executives, candidates are required to demonstrate their ability to develop new concepts that will significantly improve their organisations and the social system at large.

Masters programme

The MSc programme (NQF Level 9), is based both on modular work and a dissertation. Candidates are expected to utilise their newly acquired knowledge and skills related to the Management of Technology, Innovation, People and Systems to solve a work-related challenge.

Bachelors programme

The Bachelor of Commerce (Business Management) degree (NQF Level 7), expects candidates to gain an understanding of their own working environment and identity performance challenges facing their own organisations and create solutions to solve these challenges.

Diploma programme

The Diploma programme (NQF Level 6), is aimed at developing people who have been earmarked for middle management positions within their organisation. Candidates are provided with the basic concepts relating to the Management of Technology, Innovation, People and Systems. They are also required to complete a research project as part of their programme.

Certificate programme

The Certificate programme (NQF Level 5), is aimed at developing people who have been earmarked for junior management positions within their organisation. Candidates are provided with the basic concepts relating to the Management of Technology, Innovation, People and Systems.
